Description

The system of chimney liners is designed to remove combustion products from heating devices by natural draft. The system is installed in existing masonry chimneys. The elements of the "Click" system are connected to each other by snapping them together and locking them together by turning relative to each other. Operating temperature ≤ 600 °C. Made of stainless steel EN 1.4404. The system is resistant to soot ignition, suitable for operation in humid conditions. Suitable for systems using gaseous, liquid (except for those with sulfur content $\geq 0.2\%$ by mass) or solid (except coal and peat) fuels.
